Bill Baxter

The 2011 Rowland Hall yearbook is dedicated to Mr. Bill Baxter, who is well known for making students simultaneously laugh and learn. His passion for history is evident in every lesson, and his energy and enthusiasm guide the student-led discussions he fosters daily toward answers deeper and more informative than those found in any textbook. Thank you, Mr. Baxter, for showing us the patterns that tie together the history of last week and the history of centuries ago; your students greatly appreciate all that you do to make history both interesting and relevant.

A young Bill Baxter reads what looks to be a comic book in his childhood years.

Mr. Baxter poses with his wife Sarah in an old-school photobooth.

Mr. Baxter and his cousin Nancy enjoy each other's company, we think.

Mr. Baxter enjoys being on his swing on what looks like a beautiful day to be young.

Mr. Baxter sports a leather letterman's jacket while sitting with his wife Sarah.

What some consider the best week of the year - interim! A new addition to the yearbook this year is a spread dedicated to one of Rowland Hall's longest traditions: interim. At the end of each year, students have the ability to do things with each other that they would not normally do. Last year's interim options included amazing activities such as touring Montreal, exploring jungles in Costa Rica, learning about marine biology in Oregon, backpacking in Virginia, rebuilding New Orleans, and visiting colleges on the East Coast. Along with the out-of-state options, students also had the ability to stay in the state with activities like biking northern Utah, visiting local radio stations, golfing in the Salt Lake Valley, exploring Utah's Great Basin, participating in various Olympic sports, rafting down the Yampa River, and constructing arts in the desert. It was once again a successful interim week.

As another school year begins, students return to the place where they will spend the next nine months. Although the first day is rough for many, we try to make it as enjoyable as possible. Last year a new tradition returned, the all-school convocation. The all-school convocation gathers students from 1st grade to 12th grade at the McCarthy campus for a start-of-the-year celebration. The convocation included speeches from Headmaster Alan Sparrow, Asst. Head of School Julie Barrett, Rev. Trace Browning, and the new student-body president, Philip Layfield. As Philip said, "When people bump into you on the river, flow with them for awhile, so you both have the chance to learn something."

Freshmen spent four days away from home to study Kanab Creek. Along with that, they enjoyed the sights and sand of Coral Pink Sand Dunes National Park. Students were organized into groups to participate in labs by the creek supervised by Mr. Hayes, wrote reflections of the desert landscape with Mr. Long, performed service projects at Best Friends Animal Sanctuary, and cooked meals for everyone together. They listened to a lecture on Piute culture from a Paiute elder. And they shared stories around the campfire on the last night. This was a perfect opportunity for the incoming 9th grade to bond for the rest of their Upper School experience.

"Only at Rowland Hall could we be Obi-Wans and Leias one day and Pauly D's and Snookies the next," said Philip Layfield. Spirit Week was again a huge success with great participation by all grade levels. We had painted faces, bathrobes, and light sabers to round out one of the best Spirit Weeks ever. Our five days included Blackout Day, Toga Day, Jungle Day, Star Wars Day, and Jersey Shore Day. Canapalooza rounded it out.

Canapaloza is an annual event that energizes the Rowland Hall community. Musically talented students of the school participate in this concert. It also kicks off the can food drive for the Upper School because all of the proceeds are donated to Crossroads Urban Center. This year we donated a total of 6.28 tons of food.

Half Day Whole Heart this year was another example of this school's great reputation of giving back to the community. The groups we worked with this year were the Bishop's Storehouse, Camp K, the Children's Center, Crossroads Urban Center Thrift Store, Horizonte School, the Linus Project, Red Butte Gardens, the Ronald McDonald House, the Sharing Place, Tree Utah, the Utah Animal Adoption Center, the Utah Food Bank, and Wasatch Community Gardens. Some of our more musical students performed for the elderly. Our service wasn't limited to organizations like these; one group even painted a neighbor's garage.

This fall, the musical theater class performed an adaptation of the musical Pippin, by Stephen Schwartz and Roger O. Hirson. The play ran from November 11th to November 13th. It was adapted and directed by Gary Lindemann, the musical theater teacher. Instead of the play's original setting, medieval Europe, this version took place in 19th century America. The main character, a boy named Pippin, worked for his father's carnival. Over the course of the play, he tried to find meaning in his life. The main actors were Sam Parker as Pippin, Eileen Veghte as Catherine, Pippin's girlfriend, Connor Bushnell as Theo, Catherine's son, Max Byck as Lewis, Pippin's stepbrother, Breeanne Saxton as Fastrada, Pippin's stepmother, Kyleen Johnson as Berthe, Pippin's grandmother, and Daniel Bynum as Pippin's father.

Looking forward to what was ahead, seeing what was possible, they focused their energy throughout their training and competitive season to go there. In the end, led by senior captain Nathan Zick-Smith and with all-state performances from Andy and Johnny Gilbert, they won the state championship for the first time in school history.

The girls, led by senior captain Claire Edgley and senior Linnea Zavala, took a close third place at region. Junior Kellyn Maves advanced individually to the state meet and also made the all-state team.

The Rowland Hall girls' tennis team took region and state this year! This was a major accomplishment because none of our seniors had played on the team before. Three of the five teams who participated in the state tournament won first. The other two teams had very difficult competition and excelled throughout the tournament to get our team the points we needed to take state. This season was productive and a proud year to be a winged lion!

The team does their annual team jump going into the region and state tournament.

Bryce Baker

He might not hit it far, but he can hit it straight. As one of the most consistent players Bryce was able to put up great scores, even if it meant getting up and down.

Joe Diehl

Talk about improvement from last year, Joe went from playing in two tournaments to posting scores in almost all of the tournaments this year.

Dylan Zanker

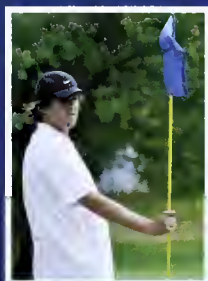

Dylan really slowed down, his swing that is. He started by swinging faster than you could say his name, but as the season ended he had his new swing mastered.

A New Year, A New Team

The start of a new golf season brought lots of changes to what was previously a "set in stone" golf team. After they lost all of the '09-'10 team's top six players, it was said to be a rebuilding year for Ro-Ho golf, but all expectations were blown out of the water. The new, young team knew the reputation that Rowland Hall golf had, and they wanted to keep that streak alive. The season started with a nice win at Round Valley golf course, proving that our golf team was still a force to be reckoned with. As the season progressed, there were plenty more wins, including one at Bonneville that rivaled the scores of past years' teams. Although the season saw its ups and downs, the boys stayed positive and managed to pull out a win at the region tournament. Caleb Chodosh was named the #1 player in the region after constantly putting up low numbers. They attended the state tournament, which was a first for all members of the team. They managed to finish state in 3rd place, which no one could have predicted at the start of the season. Once again, Caleb Chodosh came away with an award, being named the #2 golfer in 2A. Overall, the year was a huge success for the golf team, and the years ahead look even better.

The Lone Senior

Unlike past years, this year's golf team had only one senior, Robert Lainhart. He was unanimously voted captain at an early practice and was determined to lead this team to another state title. Although he was not the best on the team, the others still looked up to him for support, tips, and, most importantly, transportation. Although at times it was a struggle to be around freshmen and sophmores constantly, he stepped up to the tee and made the most of it. "The guys on this team are like family to me. I almost feel like the 3rd coach, whose job it is to keep these guys on the right track. I believe I succeeded." - Robert Lainhart

Soccer practice began in August, and everyone was excited for a good soccer season. After the first victory, the team continued to do a good job. In their region they had six wins and two losses. The team made it to the 2A state tournament and lost to Parowan in the quarter finals after a double overtime and penalty shots. Overall the Rowland Hall girls' soccer team did a very good job. Coach Jamie Wilhite said, 'The team was a very close knit group, that respected each other and worked hard this season. Anna and Carson showed amazing leadership and maturity as our captains.' Four players on the team received post-season awards: Sophomore Anna Jobe, junior Carson Lyness, senior Carolyn Wozniak, and senior Anna Loughridge.

The Crossroads Urban Center holiday food giveaway at Rowland Hall has provided food during the holidays for families and individuals for sixteen years. This year, hundreds of volunteers from Rowland Hall and other members of the Salt Lake City community helped Crossroads Urban Center serve over 4,100 people at the Lincoln Street campus on December 23, 2010. On the big day, hundreds of families streamed through Rowland Hall's dining hall and food pantry as students, parents and faculty took on various jobs. 'This event makes the holiday season for our volunteers as well as the people they assist,' said Liz Paige, Rowland Hall's director of service learning. Altogether, 660 hours of volunteer time were given to make this year's giveaway possible.

Summary

During this school year, the choir was very successful. They had nineteen members and a new teacher, Mr. Zawalski. The Choir featured three seniors; Daniel Bynum, Phillip Layfield, and Sam Parker. The choir sang a variety of music, ranging from spirituals to Broadway and Rossini to Queen. Along with school functions like basketball games and morning meeting, the choir also performed at a number of venues for many different causes. These events included performing in Ballet West's Nutcracker at the Capitol Theatre, singing the national anthem at a Grizzlies game, performing at the Hartvigsen School for children with disabilities, and appearing at the Parklane Senior community.

The Amnesty club is a longstanding club at Rowland Hall. This year, they continued their good deeds by selling fair trade chocolate and holding bake sales to help donate money to Kiva and Free the Slaves. Kiva gives small loans to the poor throughout the world, and Amnesty has lent over 200 $25 loans. During the Holiday Card Action and other events, students wrote letters to governments on behalf of prisoners of conscience. Thanks to these letters, prisoners are freed, but the letters also help to stop torture and ensure fair trials. In the coming years, we are sure Amnesty will continue to make this world a better place.

This year's Interact Club has been focused on supporting children around the globe. Volunteering at the first-ever run to focus on the silent epidemic of child abuse in Utah, painting students' pinkies purple to end polio, and raising our school's awareness about Invisible Children's work to support former child soldiers in Northern Uganda, Interact students made a difference in our school and the world.

Pride Alliance has done many things this year. They participated in Ally Week and led No Name-Calling Week. They have also attended a lot of rallies in support of equality. They had two guest speakers and a movie during lunch for No Name-Calling Week. In April, they had a day of silence and participated in the Pride Center's Queer Prom.

This year, the Enviroons Club oversaw Rowland Hall's third year of participation in the Green Cup Challenge, when schools from all across the country reduced their energy use in February. The lights went out to decrease our school's energy use. We saved 2% more energy this year than last year. This April, Nathan Zick-Smith took the extra step and participated in "No Auto April," when he didn't set foot in a car for the whole month. We're proud of the Enviroons Club and their excellence in keeping our lifestyles green.

This year's creative writing class, led by accomplished freshman English teacher and poet Joel Long, produced their 7th edition of the award-winning literary magazine, Tesserae. The class spent all year investigating and creating interesting pieces of writing including poems, stories, and some short non fiction works. Notable guest authors invited to the class included David Baker; a poet and author of Patriotics and The Blue; and Melanie Rae Thon; a fiction writer, author of Sweet Hearts and Iona Moon; and an English professor at the University of Utah. We're proud of Mr. Long and his excellent creative writing class.

We gladly welcome Mr. Mellor to the Rowland Hall faculty.

Titled "Once in a Lifetime," the concert this year had the theme of communal histories, memories, and perspectives through the past 100 years. With the assistance of senior citizens from Park Lane, the dancers combined interviews and dances that combined the past and present. The dance concert this year was a great success.

Senior Eric Albee finished his high-school career with a bang, placing 5th in the 500-yard freestyle at state.

Junior Rainy Paul won first in the 100-yard butterfly at the region 11 championships and 5th at state.

Freshman Lachlan Murphy placed third in region 11 in the 200-yard individual medley.

Senior Adrienne Murphy was selected to be on the 3A Academic All-State team.

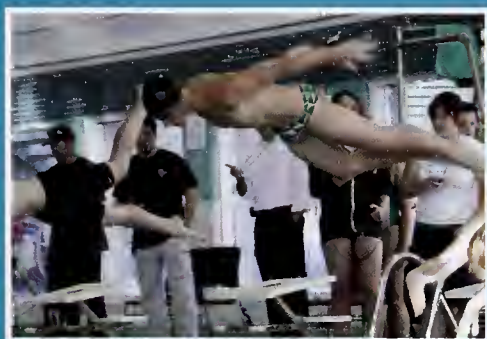

Though small in number, the swim team was talented this year. They started practices in September, and the first meet was October 21. The season continued until the state championship meet February 4 and 5. They participated in ten meets against tough competition, and despite the fact that we couldn't compete as a team against much larger schools, all of the team members swam well individually. This disparity was especially notable for the four-member boys' team, which had a hard time competing with much larger teams.

Seniors

Sean North was an important part of the varsity team, contributing off the bench as a solid 6th man.

Nathan Zick-Smith was the most experienced player as he spent three years on the varsity team and always made a contribution from the guard spot.

Daniel Bynum brought great energy off the bench as well as the best hair in high school basketball.

As his first year playing on the team, Randy Towner added more height and his great talent to the varsity team.

'The season had its ups and downs, but when it comes down to it we all love playing basketball with each other, and that's what really matters,' said Nathan Zick-Smith about this year's team. With eight seniors on the team this year, they played hard in every game, never letting a game get too out of hand. With plenty of close games and a few big blowout wins, the team proved the value of working hard on all facets of the game. The team worked all season in order to put a competitive team on the floor each night. A special thanks to team managers Wajdi Mallat and Daniel Christensen in making this year's team a success.

Jimmy McCarthy found his shooting touch from behind the arc in his senior season as he led the team in made 3-point field goals.

Sam Parker was a vocal leader on the court, always giving his team a boost when they needed it most.

Nick Bradley was one of the most energetic players on the team, always providing tough defense in clutch situations.

Alex Kim was a tough player who brought lock-down defense to the team.

Summary

Led by sole senior and team captain Rebecca Liou, the Rowland Hall varsity team performed well over the course of the entire non-region and region schedule. Standout performances included Cari Sanyer with a 15-point effort, Sophie Janes and freshman gamers Sarah Birkett and Marisa Eng with 10 points and sharpshooter Shelby Matsumura, who put double digits in the score book on several occasions. The season ended with a hard-fought loss against defending state champion Beaver. Only losing one senior player to graduation this year, the future looks extremely bright for the Winged Lions next season.

Rowmark Ski Academy is graduating it's largest class ever in 2011! The Fall term started early with an on snow camp in La Parva, Chile in August followed by returning to intensive physical training for the fall months including the 6th Rowmark Bear Lake Challenge Orientation Weekend. This can be best described a cross between "Survivor", "World Strongest Man" and the 1980's "Superstars" competitions. Despite demanding schedules, 17 Rowmark students made the Headmaster and Honor Roll list for the fall term. Great physical conditioning lead to some fantastic winter results including; JJ Cleason '11 - 3 victories in 3 days at Snowbird and Park City FIS races, Chase Ryan '11 - Career high of 1st and 4th place at Big Sky FIS Super G's, Max Martin '11 - 2nd place Snowbird FIS SL, Lauren Samuels '11 - 4th place in US Alpine Championship Downhill, 2 victories at Big Sky FIS Super G, KC Kent '11 - Best year to date with numerous top 10 results all season, Junior Carter Dowd scored many top 3 results in his age group to qualify for the US Junior Nationals in Sugarloaf, Maine. Sophomore Breezy Johnson dominated the J3 field, winning most competitions that she entered in the Western U.S. Breezy qualified as one of six Americans (three men, three women), to compete in the 36th International Pokal Loka Ski Racing Championships held in Slovenia. The Championships are for the top 13 & 14 year old in the world, and include teams from 28 countries.

The yearbook staff would like to thank everyone who helped us put together the book this year. We are especially grateful for the assistance of Julie Shipman and Carol Clawson for photographing sports, events, and locations that the yearbook staff didn't or couldn't get to. Without their support, the book just wouldn't be the same. We also want to thank Robert Lainhart for all his extra help this year.

This year's Spring Fling was held on April 16th, 2011. The theme was "one night in Paris," based on one of the most romantic cities in the world. The dance was held at the Hotel Monaco. Students had fun dancing, and once couples and singles were finished, they also enjoyed the refreshments. The Battle of the Classes Stomp was on April 8th, right here at school. This event celebrated the Battle of the Classes, which concluded the same afternoon. All who attended had a great time at both of these dances.

Swing for Life continues to be an effective way to fundraise for breast cancer research. Swing for Life is serving its ninth year as a non-profit organization dedicated to raising money to contribute to research in the fight against breast cancer. Kathy Howa, who is a breast cancer survivor herself, started Swing for Life in 2002. Back then it was merely Howa's softball team participating in a hit-a-thon to support their coach's brave battle against cancer; nine years later, the exciting annual hit-a-thon is only one of Swing for Life's numerous events. Since then, many other sports have joined the program, including soccer, volleyball, basketball, tennis, and football. Swing for Life has definitely become a large part of the Rowland Hall community. Complete with pink uniforms, pink equipment, and plenty of supportive fans, Rowland Hall teams came out this year to raise breast cancer awareness.

Battle of the Classes was a big success this year as it provided lots of excitement with five great events. This year's events were flag football, an obstacle course, music videos, Quidditch, and the lip-sync on Friday. The final results ended with the seniors finishing, in first place as they swept every event followed by the juniors in second, the sophomores in third, and the freshmen in last place.

Baseball

This year's baseball team may have been young, but they were also very successful. The coaching staff included head coach Ben Voegele, and assistant coaches Chad Camp, McKenon Estrada, Matt Bishop, and Corbin Christensen. The only senior this year was Jimmy McCarthy, who anchored the team. Even though the team was quite young, it was extremely competitive this season. The coaches led the team through a strong season, and they won the region championship for the first time in over 16 years. We just can't wait to see what they do next year!

The softball team only had two seniors this year, but they worked hard to improve at the game. This was especially challenging since some of the athletes had never played before. The team had twelve players: Sarah Slusher on the mound, Jena Glazier and Sarah Birkett in the catching spot, Sonia Grunwald at first base, Shannen Balogh at second base, Marisa Eng at short stop, Heather Ernst at third, and Hannah Midget, Simone Williams, Breanna Johnson, Hope DeLap, and Silvia Padilla in the outfield. In the words of Coach Howa, "Led by our captains, Sarah Slusher, Jena Glazier, and Hannah Midget, our fairly young and inexperienced team worked hard and improved daily! Many players had a lot of potential and were very eager to learn. We worked well together and had a lot of fun out on the field." The softball team had fun at the St. George tournament and walked away with a victory.

Boys' Soccer

It is hard to be successful as a young team, but the boys' soccer team was able to achieve success. Led by captains Johnny Bebbington, Sam Nolan, and Mats Sanyer, the team fought hard in every game. This year, the team played three 3A schools, making all of them break a sweat. There were only two seniors on the varsity team, Mats Sanyer and Hans Wiener. Mats was the rock of the defense while Hans scored some of the most spectacular goals of the year. Both of them will be missed. Also critical for the team were juniors and captains Sam Nolan and Johnny Bebbington. They put in some of the best effort for the team. Sophomores Emir Rahislic and Blake Shott were starters as well. Emir paired with Johnny in center midfield, while Blake and Mats anchored the defense. Not to be underrated were freshmen Jake Wilkinson, Michael Thompson, Enzo Wiener, and Kyle Baranko. All three scored in the first four games. Other starters were juniors Seung Ming Lee and Johnny Gilbert. Subs off the bench were Joe Diehl, Andy Gilbert, and Chris Sundquist. The dual keeper system between freshman Teddy Janes and junior Ricky Peterson ended up being a success as well. The soccer program will miss the leadership and coaching prowess of Bobby Kennedy, who will be moving up the hill to work at the McCarthy campus next year.

The tennis team, under the coaching prowess of Tim Sleeper and Susan Daynes, dominated all opponents. This year the team even beat their main competition, Waterford, with straight wins. Let's go for a sixth championship next year!

Rowland Hall's new track team was started by student request and was led by Mark Oftedal and Rodney Kopish. This year they all did fantastically: Nathan Zick-Smith took first place in the long jump, and Cari Sanyer won the 400-meter dash in the first meet! The seniors on the track team were Nathan Zick-Smith, Ediva Zanker, Adrienne Murphy, and Claire Edgley. This is the first time Rowland Hall has had a track team in 10 years, and already it has gained a lot of popularity with a grand total of 42 athletes. Congrats to the track team for all of their vigilance and hard work.

Girls' Golf

Rowland Hall's girls' golf team, coached by JZ Davis, had a successful season this year. With five players, two more than last year, the girls were able to defeat Grand County High by two strokes at the state championship, taking home a first place trophy for the first time in Rowland Hall girls' golf history. The team was made up of Sara Mann, Kaitlin Ramsey, Stephanie Schott, and two seniors, Kyleene Johnson and Serra Lakomski.
